McAfee All Access 2012–Household

Maximum protection your family needs for all the devices they own—wherever they connect

Protect Your Digital Life. Protect Your Devices.

Your family's world is dramatically different today than it was five years ago. It's a digital life where your devices are always plugged in and accessible. The explosion of mobile devices and reliance on the Internet have delivered productivity and flexibility gains never before realized. However, they have also given hackers, scammers, and cyberbullies unprecedented opportunities to target your family's personal data and identity. Rarely does a day go by without new, high-profile malware or exploit that target smartphones, tablets, PCs, or Macs making headlines.

McAfee rises to the challenge by enabling your family to safely surf, shop, network, and interact online with McAfee® All Access. Today, most security products only protect a particular type of computer or device, making your family spend precious time and money on products that only partially satisfy everyone's needs. McAfee All Access provides comprehensive protection for your PCs and Macs, along with your mobile devices, such as smartphones and tablets, in one in-depth product. It delivers complete security that applies the protection your family needs to the devices you own and safeguards them wherever you connect. It's the ultimate to protect you, your family, and your digital lifestyle.

Connect with Confidence.

McAfee All Access enables you and your family to safely connect, surf, and socialize online, knowing that your computers, laptops, netbooks, smartphones, and tablets are safe from malicious websites and hackers, scammers, cyberbullies, and identity thieves. You and your family can track, lock, or remotely wipe your lost smartphones or tablets, and you can keep your children safe from online predators or explicit content. Our comprehensive protection lets your family connect with confidence and enjoy the convenience your digital lifestyles offer.

What makes McAfee All Access truly unique is that it allows you to centrally manage the security and protection on your devices. It also gives you the ultimate flexibility to optimize protection from a web-based console as you add, remove, and change coverage on devices.
